

Pete Seeger: The Power of Song

Free Movie

Taylor's Book Store

226 Capitol St. Charleston, WV

Wednesday, May 7, 2008

5:30 PM

Jim Brown's loving documentary, "Pete Seeger: The Power of Song" — makes clear, Seeger is still busy, still angry, still hopeful, still singing. Mr. Seeger does not perform as much as he used to but at age 88 he still chops wood outside his home in the Hudson Valley, protests against war and plays the banjo about as well as anyone ever has. This pioneering folk singer and political activist best known for the classic anthems "If I Had a Hammer" and "Turn, Turn, Turn." Highlights include candid conversations with legendary artists such as Bruce Springsteen, Bob Dylan and Joan Baez, who weigh in on Seeger's far-reaching influence. 91 minutes

Sponsored by WV Citizens Action Group and WV Patriots for Peace.
Call 346-5891 for more information